The Navy continues to seek ways to improve efficiency and effectiveness, reduce the overall cost of operations, and improve business processes. This effort includes exploring opportunities for competitive initiatives.

Preliminary planning is designed to coordinate management of competitive sourcing actions, support the agency through the competitions, and achieve competition success. Anticipated to be complete in nine to 12 months, preliminary planning must include review of functions and positions to be competed, and will produce a decision regarding the scope of the competition(s), including the type(s) of competition to be performed (streamlined or standard), methods for collecting workload data, baseline costs, plan of action and milestones schedule, roles and responsibilities of competition participants, and competition officials.

A competition will only be initiated if preliminary planning reveals that it will likely result in savings for the government. Prior to beginning the competition, the Navy will formally notify Congress.

A similar letter has been sent to Chairmen Warner, Stevens, and Young. If I can be of further assistance, please let me know.

Very Respectfully,

BJ Penn
